

Kenig, Carlos (University of Chicago, USA)

The method of channels of energy

Abstract: We will discuss a new method, introduced in joint works with Duyckaerts and Merle, which allows us to study the long-time behavior of large solutions to nonlinear wave equations, and in particular to address the issue of soliton resolution for them.