Abstract

During this talk we will present the study of a singular Volterra-type integral equation and show how it allows us to obtain both classical and new results related to the existence and characterization of travelling waves for doubly non-linear diffusion problems with reaction and convection terms.